

Regional platform for plant and animal gene editing

Regional Workshop “Gene editing in crops and livestock for Latin America and the Caribbean - FONTAGRO

7 Participating countries

14 Participating institutions

Workshop The implemented initiative

During the XXII annual meeting of the Board of Directors of FONTAGRO, the need was expressed to form a regional platform on issues of gene editing in the agricultural and livestock sector. As a result of this discussion, it was agreed to hold a workshop called “Gene editing in crops and livestock for Latin America and the Caribbean-FONTAGRO. The workshop was held in Bogotá from October 16 to 18, 2019 with the participation of exhibitors and participants from 7 countries, where the presentation of the state of the art of gene editing technology by invited experts, both in the animal part as well as in the vegetal part, with the participation of public official entities and private companies.

Regional R+D+ i proposal in gene editing The technological solution

The main goal of the workshop was to define the final version of the consensual project formulated for the creation of a platform for gene editing in crops and livestock for Latin America and the Caribbean and to analyze the state of the art of gene editing in the region.

Results

- A consensous R+D+ i project on gene editing in the region.
- Memories of the Workshop.

MÁS INFO

Main donors

Participating Organizations

